L'histoire :

Fait intéressant : 4ème film de la série des "Dog Who Saved...".

COVINA - Christmas has come early, or late, for a Covina neighborhood that is being used as the setting of a Hallmark Christmas movie.

Covina resident Ronda Forrette's 5-acre mansion is being used as a backdrop for the sequel to Hallmark's seasonal television movie, "The dog who saved Christmas."

The movie stars Dean Cain, who played Superman in the television series "Lois and Clark: The New Adventures of Superman"; Elisa Donovan, who made her start in the film "Clueless"; and Shelley Long of "Cheers" fame.

This will be the fourth movie in the series.

*Film crews filmed the slapstick comedy at the home for about two weeks, transforming the 1950s Covina estate into a cheery Christmas location. They wrapped up shooting
last week.*
