

People Weekly

9 octobre 2000
October 9th 2000

Chatter

by Jason Lynch

Dean Cain: It's a bird, it's a pain.

Clark Can't

Once Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman went off the air in 1997, Dean Cain hoped to leap to the big screen. It hasn't been easy. "Those guys, they hear you played Superman—and I guarantee you, 90 percent of them have never seen Superman—and they're like, 'We don't want him,'" says Cain, who hopes to break free from typecasting by playing a gay man in the comedy The Broken Hearts Club. Cain, 34, says he didn't feel too much like a man of steel before filming his kiss with costar Andrew Keegan. "It was easier to read than to do, but Andrew is a very cute man," he says, adding, "It didn't really do anything for me, though Andrew keeps calling."

CLARK NE PEUT PAS

Une fois que Lois & Clark : The New Adventures of Superman espér

Note de Chantal : S'il vous plaît, ne lancez pas le débat de la sexu